DOG GAVE THE ALARM.

Tenants of Two Houses Had to Leave in Fear of Their Collapse.

'Air leaking from the south tube of the New York and New Jersey tunnel lifted up the sidewalk and pavement in front of the two residences at Nos. 673 and 6% Greenwich street early to-day, and so endangered the two houses that the persons in them were ordered to the street by the police of the Charles street station.

The tunnel, which comes under North River at Morton street and crosses under Greenwich street on its way to Sixth avenue, where it is to connect with the subway system. The bores under the river have been completed and the tubes are now being forced, forty feet under the surface, under the
